The General Secretary, Dr. G. Durgaiah, had explained about the byelaws and the objectives of the Association, through Power Point presentation. He had thanked all the members who had extended their inputs and valuable suggestions in finalising and registering the byelaws.

The Treasurer, Dr. Vijaya Shekar Reddy, presented the Accounts of the Association till to date. The General Body approved the accounts unanimously.

The President, the General Secretary and all other executive committee members had actively participated giving their inputs from time to time for Registration, in obtaining a Pan Card and Bank Account for the Association.

The President had invited the senior and experienced members of the Association to share their views in taking forward the activities of the association in future.

Initially, Dr. M. V. Reddy, IAS (Retd), Ex-Director of Animal Husbandry Department and District Collector, had appreciated the efforts of the Association members in Registration of this Association by involving number of Retired Veterinarians from various fields of expertise, giving a wonderful opportunity for the senior veterinarians to meet and greet each other and share their joy and experiences with friends. He had emphasised the need to involve ourselves actively in the Association activities, since now we are all retired and have some free time to spare for the betterment of the welfare of fellow vets and also for the welfare of the Livestock. To run such a big and wonderful organisation, he felt that finances shall not be a constraint. In this regard, he had suggested to approach various private Livestock oriented organisations, Philanthropists for raising funds for carrying out the activities. He further suggested that we may also contribute generously for the financial pool of our organisation as per our financial strengths. As an initial gesture he had announced to contribute Rs.10,000/- towards the donation to the fund.

Dr. Yogi Reddy, Ex-Director of Animal Husbandry had also appreciated the efforts of the committee for achieving what could not be done for the past few decades, viz., Registration of this Association. He had requested all the senior retired officers to guide, support, suggest for the smooth and successful functioning of the Association.

Dr. S. Ramalinga Raju, Ex-Director of Animal Husbandry had applauded the Association for their achievement in a short span of time and requested all the members not resort to negative criticism and instead put all their wisdom and experience to strengthen the hands of the Association members in carrying forward the activities for our wellbeing.

Dr. Kondal Reddy, Ex-Registrar of PVNR University had suggested for working coordination between the University and the field Vets for better results in order to help the farming community. He felt very happy for being associated with senior retired members of the department, scientists and other members from different fields on a common platform. He also suggested to conduct visits for the members to various institutions, farms, places at regular intervals in order strengthen the morale of the senior members.

Dr. K. Mukteswar Rao, Retired AGM, Canara Bank , had extended his help in giving advises to the farming sector through this association for their enterprises. He had thanked the Association members on behalf of the retired banking sector veterinarians for bringing them in to the fold this association for utilising our experiences also in the welfare of the retired vets and farming community.

Dr. Radhakrishna Murthy, retired Deputy Director (AH), had opined that the time has come to involve the retired veterinarians in bringing about structural and organisational changes in the department for the delivery of better services to the Livestock. The Association, now registered and strengthened, shall develop plans for approaching the Government, on these lines.

Dr. Polu Anil Kumar Retd. DDAH had exhibited and explained about the modern Animal Ambulance of the Maa Saraswathi Hospital under Satyam Shivam Sunderam Goshala at Burjugadda, Shamshabad mandal. He also explained the activities of the animal hospital and byproducts of the Goshala.

Discussion on the proposed elections to elect a new Executive Committee for the Association has been put forward by the Ad hoc committee President. After few deliberations the General Body unanimously resolved to continue the same Ad hoc and function as full time committee for the next two years term. However, there is proposal to include additional 5 EC members in to the committee representing different fields of experience. As there is provision for 10 EC members only, it was proposed and resolved unanimously to increase the number of EC members to 15 and requested the President to amend the byelaws accordingly. Further, the General body elected the following 5 members as EC members in the Newly elected Committee unanimously.

1. Dr. Suresh Pothani from Research field
2. Dr. K. Mukteswar Rao from the Banking Sector
3. Dr. K. Kondal Reddy from the Veterinary University
4. Dr. Sharath Kumar from Insurance
5. Dr. N. Prabhakar from Dairy Development

Vote of thanks was proposed by Dr. G. Suresh Kumar. He had thanked all those members who have attended the meeting taking pains and travelling long distances. He also thanked all those donors who have generously announced their contributions for the financial pool of the association. He had thanked all those members who have given excellent suggestions for the welfare of the retired veterinarians. He had thanked all those members who have extended their help in formulation of byelaws, registration of the association etc., directly and indirectly. He had thanked the Presidents of the Officers and VAS associations for their immense help. Grateful thanks were extended to
